16	This matter comes before the Court on a motion for reconsideration (Dkt. #26)
17	filed by plaintiff Allstate Insurance Company ("Allstate"). Allstate seeks reconsideration
18	of this Court's January 10, 2008 order denying Allstate's motion for summary judgment
19	(Dkt. #25, the "Order").
20	In its motion, Allstate asserts two arguments not advanced in its motion for
21	summary judgment. First, it relies on Allstate v. Bowen, 121 Wn. App. 879 (2004) and
22	argues that negligent misrepresentation in a real property transaction does not cause
23	property damage. Second, it argues that the fortuity doctrine precludes coverage. The
24	new arguments do not constitute "new facts or legal authority which could not have been

1	brought to its attention earlier with reasonable diligence." Local Rule 7(h)(1).
2	Accordingly, and for the reasons set forth in the Order, Allstate's motion for
3	reconsideration (Dkt. #26) is DENIED.
4	However, Allstate's newly advanced arguments may have merit, and the Court is
5	loathe to proceed with claims which should be resolved on a dispositive motion.
6	Accordingly, Allstate may file a motion for summary judgment that advances its new
7	arguments.
